Living Legends

Dolly parton was living a special life when she was a child. One interesting fact is that her birth was paid in cornmeal, she wrote her first song at the age of two it was based off of her toy doll and the song was called "little tiny tassel top" this is inspiring because she never gave up on her dream at becoming a songwriter and performer. One of her hit songs (jolean) was based off of a red head bank teller who would hit on her husband and had been for many years until she told him that it twas not ok. She had always stood up for herself and others and still does today. She means alot to me because she paved a way for lady country singers including for thoses
